Sugar Stamp No. 11 Becomes Valid Today

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Spare ration stamp No. 11 was validated today for another 10 pounds of sugar to each household consumer.

OPA officials said the stamp will be good through Sept. 30. Stamp No. 53, which provides a five-pound allowance, expired last night.

OPA previously had announced that another stamp good for 10 pounds probably would be validated July 1, with a third one likely to be made good around Oct. 1.

Canton Pays Mason Tribute

Schools Closed; Leaders Laud Deceased Head of Education System.

Public schools in Canton were closed today in tribute to Jesse H. Mason, superintendent of schools there since 1928 and a former superintendent of the Marion public schools. Services for Mr. Mason, whose death occurred suddenly as the result of a heart attack Saturday, were conducted at 3:30 o'clock today in the First Methodist church at Canton, of which he was a member. The pastor, Rev. C. H. LaRue, officiated, assisted by Rev. George Parkinson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Acting Pallbearers

Acting as pallbearers were six educational associates and close friends of Mr. Mason, Dr. Frank J. Prout, president of Bowling Green university; Dr. George A. Bowman, president of Kent State university, and former superintendent of schools in Marion; J. D. Rairdan, executive editor of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.; George H. Deuble, a former president of the Canton board of education who returned by plane from Miami Beach, Fla., to be present at the funeral services; Dr. R. E. Pfouts, a former Canton board of education member, and Henry Schaffner, general business manager of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

The body lay in state in the First Methodist church from noon today until the funeral hour during which most of the 16,000 school children of the city visited the church.

A meeting of the city's school principals yesterday opened with prayer and one-minute talks were given by several of the officials. Memorial services will be conducted in the schools Wednesday and Thursday, many of the services being arranged for approximately the hour when Mr. Mason's body will be placed in the family burial plot in the Mt. Gilead cemetery about 1 p. m. Wednesday.

Memorial Broadcast

A "Jesse Mason Memorial" was broadcast over WHBC last night with Rev. LaRue offering a tribute to Mr. Mason. Kathleen Carter, soprano, sang his favorite hymns, accompanied on the organ by Martin Alexander.

Tributes to Mr. Mason came from school principals and teachers, ministers, members of the legal fraternity, civic and labor leaders of Canton.

Legislature Asks Vote On Presidential Limit

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—The house of representatives called for a vote today on a proposed amendment to the U. S. constitution limiting presidents to ten years in office.

Received from the U. S. congress last night, the proposal requires ratification by 36 state legislatures within seven years to become the law of the land.

Stemming from President Roosevelt's long tenure, the amendment would limit presidents to two four-year terms.

COLUMBUS, O., April 1— James Perry, 46, was shot to death in a quarrel at his home last night. His widow Minnie, 40, was detained for questioning.

LEGISLATURE BEGINS DRIVE

Hammer Away on Bills To Give More Money to Localities, Schools.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—Ohio legislators hammered away today at bills to give schools and local governments more money.

The house taxation committee called up proposals to increase state distributions to local governments from $21,000,000 to $36,000,000 and return to municipalities and counties all cigaret dealers' license tax money. The state now keeps half.

Reports that the senate was delaying action on the Daniels-Cramer school bill until the house evolved a local government program spurred the legislators to prompt action.

The Daniels-Cramer bill has been held in the senate rules committee since March 11 while the senate education committee considers the Brooks-Reiners-McKie school measure to continue the present school foundation program and appropriate $14,500,000 a year for the cost-of-living bonuses direct to teachers. The Daniels-Cramer plan would boost the foundation program from nearly $60,000,000 a year to between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000.

To Start Hearings

The house taxation committee members said they would start hearings today on the Perrill bill which would appropriate $18,000,000 for adjustment of teacher salaries.

Legislation passed last night included:

Senate—To permit county health directors to declare a state of emergency in event of a rabies outbreak and require vaccination of dogs to prevent spread of the disease. The vote was 20 to 7.

House—To increase compensation and expenses of judges serving in courts outside their home counties, and

To provide for creation of a municipal court in Chillicothe.

Introduced in the senate was a bill by Sen. David Ferguson (R-Guernsey) to require registration in common pleas courts of labor organizations and the name of officers to be served in case of court suits againts unions. Suits would be enforceable against labor organizations but not their individual members.

Compensation Bill Proposed

A bill to make maximum workmen's compensation awards apply in all cases regardless of the date of injury, was proposed by Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens).

WOMAN IS KILLED IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Victim Believed To Be Resident of Findlay.

Special to The Star

KENTON, April 1—An unidentified woman was killed and a Columbus man seriously injured at 9:30 a. m. today when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck on state route 31 in Union county between Byhalia and Summersville.

Although positive identity of the woman had not been established at noon, Union county sheriff's officers said a driver's license found on her person carried the name of Clara Mae Carver of Findlay. Her body was taken to the Ballinger funeral home at West Mansfield.

Driver of the car, Clarence S. Stiner, 26, of Columbus, was taken to Antonio hospital, Kenton, where his condition was reported as serious, although the extent of his injuries was not immediately known.

BIG 4 TALKS REPARATIONS; "NO DECISION"

Secret Meeting Was To Have Been Showdown Session on Demands.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 1—The foreign ministers council discussed German reparations and the level of German industry for more than three hours today and at the end of the session announced they had reached "no decision."

This was to have been a showdown meeting expected to indicate possibilities of a German settlement of current problems at Moscow. The fact that no decision was reached was considered by some diplomats as possibly indicating little or no progress towards breaking the deadlock.

An agreed-upon statement said: "The discussion today was limited to the subject of level of industry and reparations and no decision was reached. It was agreed to return to formal sessions tomorrow."

Marshall Strategy Reported

Secretary of State Marshall was authoritatively reported to have gone into the meeting today determined to find out whether Russia would negotiate for a generally acceptable arrangement of her reparations demands or whether her demands were entirely firm as presented.

In the absence of indications from Russia's V. M. Molotov that a compromise could be arranged, Marshall was said to have decided prior to the meeting to urge that the council proceed with other questions because in his view the stalemate on major German economic problems would then be unbreakable.

The secrecy which surrounded today's meeting—each of the ministers took only three aides—made it impossible to tell immediately whether any progress had been made in the direction Marshall hoped.

Progress Apparent Soon

If there was any such progress it will almost certainly become apparent to tomorrow's formal meeting, which will be fully reported by the attending officials.

If there were no such progress then it was considered highly probable, by persons familiar with Marshall's plans, that the secre-

Ford To Resume Making of Small Business Coupes

By The Associated Press

DETROIT April 1—The Ford Motor Co. announced today that its de luxe six-cylinder, three-passenger business coupe was being restored to production at a price $20 below the listing that prevailed at the time the model was temporarily discontinued.

J. R. Davis, vice president and director of sales and advertising, said this cut with reductions previously announced, "gives Ford the lowest priced coupe and tudor sedan in its field."

Ford reduced prices from $15 to $50 on passenger cars last Jan. 15.

Davis said retail orders with Ford dealers today total more than 1,500,000, or 62 per cent more than were on their books a year ago. He said he believed not more than 20 per cent of these orders are duplications. Production currently is at the rate of approximately 4,000 units daily.

The Ford sales chief said "running changes" are being made in Ford cars without interfering with production. The changes chiefly are in styling.

Those already made or in preparation include new upholstery combinations and heavier door panels in the interiors. Exterior changes include relocation of parking lights, heavier bumper guards, lowered fender mouldings and the extension of the rub-moulding strip the full length of the front fenders.

Mt. Vernon Company Denied Tax Refunds

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O., April 1—The board of tax appeals today refused to grant the Phoenix Amusement Co. of Mt. Vernon a $77 claim for sales tax refunds.

The company applied to Tax Commissioner Emory Glander for the refund July 15, 1945, but Glander refused because they had waited more than 90 days after an Ohio supreme court decision holding that the sales tax was not collectible where sales of less than nine cents were involved.

The board's action upheld Glander's stand.

Fun-Loving King Dies After Rule Of But Half Year

By The Associated Press

Dapper, fun-loving King George II of Greece, one of the two last monarchs in the turbulent Balkans, had reoccupied his unsteady throne but a half year when death removed him today from a scene of civil strife and recrimination from left wing foes at home and abroad.

Paradoxically, the king of the Greeks was no Greek himself by blood. He was the son of King Constantine, who himself was twice removed from the throne by popular disfavor. His grandfather came from Denmark and his mother was a sister of the last German Kaiser, Wilhelm II.

He was five and a half feet

Sugar Rationing Gains New Seven-Month Lease on Life

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Sugar rationing gained a new seven-month lease on life today, but President Truman—fearful of "disastrous economic consequences" from such a short extension—announced he might seek longer controls.

The sugar act, which also carries sugar price control to Oct. 31, was approved by congress yesterday along with a 90-day extension of the President's power to parcel out a sharply trimmed list of industrial, drug and food items.

Mr. Truman signed both bills in time to prevent the entire sugar and allocation program from lapsing along with the second war powers act. The act is the source of the priority, rationing and allocation power. It ran out at midnight, save for the few controls salvaged.

But Mr. Truman said he penned his signature "with reluctance" on the sugar bill because congress apparently is counting on more greatly improved sugar supplies "than those now definitely in prospect."

"I should like to emphasize the fact that sugar supplies in the United States normally approach a low level early in the fall," his statement said. "If controls are ended on Oct. 31, the situation may be as dangerous as if they had been allowed to lapse today."

If this proves likely, Mr. Truman added, he will "ask the congress to reconsider," inasmuch as some members "clearly recognized" the dangerous possibilities during debate on the bill.

No change in sugar rations or regulation will be made for the present, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson announced. He took over the program today, in line with congress' mandate relieving OPA of the job, but he set up a new "sugar rationing administration" in the department made up of OPA's former sugar staff.

The bill provides 20 pounds of sugar a person for the next seven months, or an annual rate of 35 pounds, 10 pounds more than last year. It sets aside 50,000 tons for new industrial users, and continues inventory controls until next March 31, to prevent big industrial users from hoarding supplies once coupon rationing ends.

Materials Question Asked

A big question was whether grain, rice, meat and other agricultural products could continue to be parceled out for domestic, military and foreign consumption. They were not singled out by name as were tin, antimony, freight cars, cordage, cinchona bark for quinine and the drug streptomycin.

As the agriculture department sweated this out, Rep. Springer (R-Ind), gave a last-minute explanation on the floor of the house: He said the foodstuffs could be classed among the "materials and facilities" which remain subject to control if the secretaries of state and commerce certify that allocation is necessary to meet this countrys international commitments.

The commerce department went to work with the state department to draft a list of "certified" products. The list had not been announced by the midnight deadline but at last accounts it contained these world-scarcity items:

Grain, flour and grain products; rice and rice products; soap and soap powder; fats and oils and mixtures thereof; butter; meat and meat products; beans and nuts; fatty acids; oil-bearing seeds; oil cakes and oil-cake meals; dry beans and peas; ammonium nitrate for export.

The civilian production administration meanwhile revoked 14 orders to get in line with the congressional edict. The most important was inventory control, used during the war and reconversion to prevent the hoarding and withholding from market of scarce items.

Lewis' Mine Workers Begin 6-Day Stoppage

By The Associated Press

John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers quit their soft coal pits today beginning a six-day stoppage to memorialize the tragic deaths of 111 Centralia (Ill.) miners.

The 400,000 AFL-UMW members began the mourning period at one minute after midnight starting on the east coast and extending to the Pacific through the time zones.

All was quiet in the nation's anthracite mines, too.

The hard coal miners laid aside picks and shovels for traditional holiday observances, celebrating the miners' winning of the eight-hour day nearly 50 years ago.

But a black shroud hovered over all proceedings. Memorial services were the main parts of mining community programs.

Industry Seems Unperturbed

Industry, in the main, seemed unperturbed. No coal-dependent firms were expected to curtail production. Lewis' timing of the "holiday" comes in a period when little coal is brought to the surface.

Miners traditionally don't work April 1, and few work on Holy Thursday or Good Friday. Saturday normally is a day off. Wednesday, then, is the only day in which full production is lost.

One coal executive, however, disputes this claim, James D. Francis, president of the Island Creek Coal Co., at Huntington, W. Va., insists "we will lose a normal week's tonnage with the exception of Monday (yesterday).

"Production during the Holy Week for the last seven years has been normal except for two years —1941 and 1946—when there were strikes. And there were no slowdowns on Thursday, Friday and Saturday."

Only in a scattered few Illinois shafts, manned by members of the Progressive Mine Workers (independent), was industry-vital bituminous coal reaching the surface.

Congress Pushes Probe

From Washington came positive indications that congress was pushing its probe of mine conditions under federal operation.

Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, working on a report to the senate investigating committee, indicated it may be submitted sometime during the day.

Meantime, officials of the solid fuel administration said production of soft coal was off 20 per cent yesterday as numerous miners "jumped the gun" on the memorial holiday.

These officials, however, declined to express an opinion on whether the miners would return to the pits after the six-day mourning observance.

If the stoppage continued through next Monday, would it be considered a violation of a supreme court mandate?

That remained a big question—and SFA officials had no answer.

20,000 Ohio Pit Workers Respond to Lewis' Call

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., April 1—Responding to John L. Lewis' call for a six-day "memorial" stoppage, 20,000 union miners in Ohio's soft coal fields laid down their picks and shovels today to commemorate fellow workers who lost their lives in mine disasters.

The United Mine Workers chief set a workless Holy Week to mourn the victims of the recent Centralia, Ill., disaster, but Adolph Pacifico, District 6 president, said the memorial services also would be for victims of Ohio coal mine accidents. He mentioned in particular four major mine disasters in this state:

Willow Grove, March 16, 1940, where 73 men died; Millfield, August, 1931, 88 victims; Cadiz,

Chicago Elects Mayor Today

Voting Viewed as Major Test of 1948 Potential Strength.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 1—Chicago's mayoral election contest between two political newcomers drew national attention today in a major test of party strength preliminary to the 1948 presidential battle.

With more than two million voters, Republican and Democratic party leaders considered the results would give them their first indication of how the political winds are blowing since last November's congressional election.

Democrats have been in power in Chicago for the last 16 years and their big city vote was a major factor in giving Illinois' 28 electoral votes to the late President Roosevelt four times. However, the Republicans, headed by Governor Dwight H. Green, won 14 of 17 offices in Cook county (Chicago) last November and they have waged a determined campaign to win control of the city hall.

Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, said the election of the Republican candidate, Russell W. Root, would be a second major step in electing a G.O.P. president next year. He said the first step was achieved in last fall's general election.

VIOLENCE OCCURS IN SPRINGFIELD STRIKE

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 1—Violence developed again today in the nine-day-old strike of 35 drivers of the Liberty Cab Co. as unidentified men overturned two cabs.

No one was hurt.

Union officials said the first bit of violence came today at 4:30 a. m. when a machine driven by a striking cab driver was overturned a short distance from the heart of the city.

A second union-driven free cab was overturned at 7 a. m. in the business district.

Jack Whaley, a striker, told newsmen a gang of 10 men rushed him as he sat at a stand downtown and overturned the machine.

Virgil M. George, manager of the Liberty Cab Co., expressed hope that a meeting scheduled this afternoon by management with cab drivers and union representatives would affect settlement of the taxicab drivers' strike here.

Thirty-five drivers of the Liberty Cab Co. have been on strike in protest against the non-union status of drivers for the Circle Cab Co., which also is under the management of George.

Meanwhile, a strike of truck drivers in support of the cab drivers failed to materialize.

RULER TAKEN SUDDENLY BY HEART ATTACK

New Monarch To Address Subjects Upon Being Sworn In.

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, April 1—King George II of Greece died suddenly today and his brother, Prince Paul, will be sworn in as monarch at 7:30 p. m.

The king died of a heart ailment.

Immediately after the new king is sworn in, the government monarch will issue messages to the people.

King George II

George, who spent many years of his reign in exile, was returned to his throne last September by a plebicite.

Former Premier Papandreou said the king died at 1:55 p. m. (6:55 a. m., Eastern Standard time). He said the king recently had been complaining of pain caused by angina pectoris.

The king, twice exiled from his country, returned to Greece after an election decided upon continuance of the monarchy. This election has been attacked as unrepresentative by Russian factions, but its fairness was upheld by American and British delegates who observed the polling.

Brings New Angle

The death brought a new angle into the question of American aid to Greece, now being debated in Washington.

The king died at the height of a critical period in his country's history—at a time when a United Nations inquiry commission was in the Balkans studying his nation's charges against her three neighbors — Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

The Greeks have charged her neighbors with encouraging bloody guerrilla warfare in the north and with having territorial ambitions directed against Macedonia and Thrace, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania on the other hand, have charged that Greece's border troubles stemmed from suppressive tactics of the Royalist government.

Prince Paul, third son of the late King Constantine and a brother of George, is the heir to the throne.

The king was born July 20, 1890, son of King Constantine. He was of Russian, German and Danish blood.

Crowned in 1922

He became George II of the Hellenes after his father abdicated in 1922. But 15 months later he left the country and three months thereafter the dynasty was deposed. He spent the following 12 years in exile, living in London.

He recouped his throne in 1935 and decreed a dictatorship. He fled before the Nazi invasion in 1942. He went to London to spend the remaining years of his exile before the postwar plebiscite put him back on the throne.

King's Death Stirs Fears Of Greek Communist Coup d'Etat

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—The death of King George of Greece provoked today congressional admonitions that the Greek people must guard against a Communist attempt to seize control of that country's shaky government.

The immediate reaction to the Greek monrach's death found found few legislators of the opinion that it would materially affect action on President Truman's $400,000,000 aid proposal to bulwak Greece and Turkey against Communism.

This viewpoint appeared strengthened by a report from Athens that Prince Paul, the king's brother, is to be sworn in as his successor, thus leaving the country still under the control of a monarchy.

Martin Sees No Effect

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) said that George's death "probably will have no effect" upon the bill.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) agreed. "In democracies," he said, "we believe in a government of laws—not of men. Therefore, this should make no difference in our advice and suggestions as to the application of democartic principles in Greece.

"The only danger," he added, "is an attempt by some minority group—and I'm thinking of the Communists—to set up an interim government under minority control. We would disapprove of that."

Rep. Eaton (R-NJ), chairman of the house foreign affairs and Rep. Lodge (R-Conn), a committee member, similarly took the view that the king's death would have no effect on the Greek aid legislation. Eaton added, however, that "it will probably raise questions as to the political set-up which they will have to settle themselves."

House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana thought the king's death "will further complicate an already difficult and perplexing situation."

Senator George (D-Ga), member of the senate foreign relations committee, said the monarch's death [illegible] that a [illegible] there."

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

Today's Text: "Yet a little while and I am with you, and then I go unto Him that sent Me. Ye shall seek Me and shall not find Me." John 7:33, 34.

* * *

WE ARE inclined to take for granted that God is "ever-present" and assume that He is a sort of "cosmic errand boy" who stands ready to do our bidding whenever it suits our convenience to call upon Him. It may shock some, therefore, to be told that there may come a time when God cannot be found. In Proverbs (1:28) God says, "Then shall they call upon Me, but I will not answer: they shall seek Me early, but they shall not find Me." The reason is given in a preceding verse.

Jesus' earthly ministry was limited in point of time, hence this warning to His hearers that He was soon to leave them and any search for Him would be in vain. This is the "day of divine visitation" for us, but if we refuse to heed the call the opportunity will pass, the door will be closed and we will be left outside.

Pastor, Trinity Baptist Church.

Special Election Asked To End School Walkout

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 1—A special election in which parents would express their sentiments toward School Superintendent William Cook was proposed today as a means to end the North College Hill school strike, now nearly three weeks old.

The suggestion was advanced last night by a citizens' arbitration board named after more than 500 pupils of the community's junior and senior high schools vacated classrooms March 19 in protest overal refusal of majority members of the board of education to renew Dr. Cook's contract which expires in July.

Howard Wirtz, conciliator for the mediation group said the board—composed of five members of the citizens school league, which is in favor retention of Dr. Cook and five members of the school improvement association which opposes him—was in complete agreement on the plan to poll the parents.

WCKY FILES DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST UNION

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 1—In a court action which a federal labor mediator said may be the first of its kind in this area, radio station WCKY seeks $25,000 damages from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers-AFL, whose engineer-members left their jobs at the 50,000-watt station Saturday in a contract dispute.

In a suit filed in U. S. district court here yesterday, L. B. Wilson, Inc., operator of the station, asked the amount on grounds the union violated the Smith-Connally act's 30-day strike notice provision

The station said, in the petition, that the union "acted without giving strike notice" and as a result it was unable to meet its contracted program obligations

James McNamara, U. S. conciliator, said he believed it was the first time in this area that management has sued a union under the act.

McNamara said he had discussed issues of the radio station strike with J. Mack Swegert, attorney for the station, and John Thompson, international representative of the IBEW. The conciliator added, however, that he was "just familiarizing" himself with the case and had made no attempt to bring the union and management of the station together.

Meanwhile, executives operated the station for the third straight day.

The Simple Life Really Pays Off in Florida

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 1—Footnotes to Florida:

The simple life really pays off in Florida.

The state and local governments exist chiefly on the revenues from gasoline, cigarets, beer, whiskey, wine and horse and dog racetracks.

There is no state income tax by constitutional provision and no property taxes are assessed against homesteads valued below $5,000.

Hal Boyle

So you can move to Florida and live practically tax free if you buy a home assessed below $5,000. Don't drink, smoke or drive your own automobile—and don't go to the races.

Of course, many people wouldn't exactly regard that as a full life.

* * *

Cigar smokers get a break because Florida is one of the great cigar manufacturing states. There is a state levy on cigarets, none on cigars. Many housewives, weary of digging cheroot ashes out of their rugs, wish there were one.

* * *

Florida newspapers are leading a campaign to overhaul the state's antiquated school institutions.

"Florida's development began with the elimination of the poll tax in 1937," said one Tampa editor. "Our greatest need now is to bring our schools up to the level of those in the rest of the country."

The Tampa and Miami press in particular are plumping for an additional $18,000,000 expenditure for schools. Florida ranks 27th among the states in ability to pay for educational facilities, but about 45th in what it actually spends as compared with what it could afford.

There is a seven-cent state tax on gasoline. Three cents of it still goes toward refunding of road bonds floated during the boom period more than two decades ago.

* * *

In St. Petersburg, winter capital for elderly tourists, one enterprising filling station proprietor has taken a tip from the movie houses. He gives six table glasses free to each person who buys five gallons of gasoline.

* * *

Old ladies are excited about new "help-ur-self" laundries which rent electric machines at an hourly rate. Customers tote in their soiled laundry to the shop, wash it themselves, and tote it home to iron.

They say they can do $3 worth of laundry this way for fifty cents.

One reason the laundries are spreading rapidly through the country is that they enable the women to exchange household gossip as well as wash clothes. One millionaire housewife who patronizes such a laundry—and does the wash herself—explained: "It's more fun than going to the club."

* * *

Newspapermen dream of retiring. Few do. One who did was Harry French, widely known Associated Press editor who washed the carbon off his fingers for keeps in 1939 at the age of 57.

He came to Florida, threw away his hat when he crossed the state line and hasn't worn one since. This transplanted New Englander put down new roots that kept him too busy for the usual pastimes of the elderly.

"Never played a game of shuffleboard or gone fishing," he said. He's active in half a dozen civic and charitable enterprises.

"I'm trying to get him to retire again at 66," said Mrs. French.

The "Welcome to Lakeland" sign visible from afar as you approach that inland city has an odd location. It's atop the local police station.

To Show Pictures Of Passion Play

The Passion Play of Oberammergau is to be given in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church Richland township Thursday at 8 p. m. and in the St. Joseph's Evangelical and Reformed church Waldo Ohio Good Friday at 8 p. m. through the medium of 50 colored slides. The public is invited to attend.

In the year of 1633, a pestilence raged in southern Bavaria and the people in Oberammergau were not spared. They sought relief in every way, in every church service and in daily prayers. In their plight, a number of representative men made a vow to God, for the people, that every ten years, they would reproduce the tragedy of the suffering and passion of Christ in memory of His suffering and death, if they would be spared from further ravaging of the dread disease. It is recorded that from that time on, not another person sickened and those that were afflicted, recovered. Even to this day, on each Sunday at 4 p. m., the church bell rings in commemoration of the time when the last death occurred. All pious souls, at this time pray the Lord's Prayer.

Rev. H. N. Doerries is pastor of the St. John's and St. Joseph's churches.

Carrothers Infant Dies at City Hospital

Born Jan. 27, he was a son of Howard and Twyla Brillhart Ridenour, the father a son of Mrs. Mary Ridenour of Elida and the mother a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Brillhart of Carrothers, all of whom survive.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Henderson and Lutz funeral home in Bucyrus by Rev. Paul Lammers of the College Hill Evangelical and Reformed church of the home community. Burial will be at Attica. Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday night.

Two Youthful Drivers Face Court Charges

VIEWS OF A MOTHER

Editor of The Star: During the [illegible] weeks our attention has [illegible] to a series of rob[illegible] very young boys. The [illegible] been rightly placed on [illegible] parents. Just as an [illegible] Not too long ago a [illegible] me (rather boastfully) [illegible] spent less than one [illegible] per family during that [illegible] And I also know a lot [illegible] of young boys who be[illegible] same clubs, societies [illegible], and therefore they [illegible] the same amount of [illegible] their families. And the [illegible] are the ones to suffer.

[illegible] parents expect the [illegible] churches to perform [illegible] with their boys and girls. [illegible] schoolteachers are do[illegible] a wonderful job of education, [illegible] have no time for special [illegible] training; that must be [illegible] at home. And a Sunday [illegible] teacher's time is very lim[illegible] probably to about 30 minutes [illegible] with the class. So wake [illegible], parents, to your responsibili[illegible]!

It takes a heap of patience, much [illegible], and a great deal of kindness [illegible] and wisdom to bring a child up in [illegible] way he should live. I believe [illegible] should have some recrea[illegible], but not to the extent that our [illegible] are neglected, their char[illegible] damaged sometimes be[illegible] repair resulting in destruc[illegible], thoughtless and dishonest [illegible]. Again I say parents, and [illegible] mothers, do make it a [illegible] to know what your child is [illegible] outside of school hours. I [illegible] a 12-year-old child and in all [illegible] school years not more than a few times was I away from home when my child came home from [illegible] at noon and after school let [illegible]. (And those few occasions were unavoidable.) Personally, I find only time to belong to one club. I am deeply interested in school activities, also in Sunday school and church. The remainder of my time is spent being the best homemaker and mother I know how to be.

I had the occasion recently to observe a dozen or so youngsters 12 and 13 years old who were invited to spend a couple hours in a basement playroom in a nice home. And the children were from lovely homes. The playroom contained a lot of games, stacks of books, and a fine record player with many records. But it was plain to see that the boys lacked the proper home training and guidance; therefore, they had no respect for the rights and property of others, and damaged about $5 worth of equipment in the play room, not accidentally but deliberately. And not one boy bothered to apologize, or offer to repair or place it. I was amazed at the utter disregard for the property of others, and the complete abuse of the hospitality extended them. I've been thinking ever since just to what ends would those boys go outside a home. My own child shed tears of shame for the thoughtless, unkind companions, because, we have different rules for living at our house. We practice the golden rule seven days a week.

Mothers! I beg of you, don't be too busy or just plain indifferent about your children. Help them by guiding them aright. Certainly raising children who have character, understanding, kindness and all the things that will make them useful, loved citizens is the most important contribution to the future of this country, for the America of tomorrow will be the handiwork of the children of today.

A MOTHER.

FRIENDLY WAXWINGS

Editor of The Star: If the residents of Vernon Heights have been disturbed lately by seemingly inquisitive visitors with field glasses they will be reassured to learn that not they, but birds are being spied upon.

For the past several weeks flocks of cedar waxwings have been making themselves at home among the inviting plantings of this suburb, attracted by the berries of mountain ash trees and barberry hedges; and birdlovers of Marion have been having a field day.

While these birds are not rare, their sleek appearance, jaunty air and friendly manner make them interesting to observe. They are usually seen in flocks and the ones currently in Marion are no exception with their numbers varying from six to thirty or more. They alight in a tree and seem to survey the possibilities before starting to feed, then fly to a hedge and select berries with a discriminating eye, either settling on the top or side, or feeding on the wing much like a hummingbird. They enjoy a drink from puddles here and there and even passing cars disturb them little. They are affectionate among themselves and often sit in groups of three or four close together along the limb of a tree.

Cedar waxwings are smaller than cardinals although they do have a crested head in common. Even though the red tips of the inner wings are not always visible and the bright yellow across the end of the tail feathers shows best in short flights, the waxwings are attractive birds with their soft grey-brown color above, shading to an olive green brown on the breast with lighter coloration toward the tail. They have a well groomed look as they rest in the trees, chatting companionably among themselves, but when their movement and the correct light bring out the "sealing wax" tips on the wing and the sunlight yellow on the tail they are among birdland's most beautiful creatures.

One flock paused long enough outside a window of Vernon Heights school to enable teachers and pupils to study them at close range and they were unperturbed at the faces pressed to the window so close to them. However, after feeding and resting the flock usually takes off one by one, disappearing in the distance. And although they have been seen quite regularly in Vernon Heights during the past weeks they are elusive and are not always to be found during a casual drive in this section. But if you are fortunate enough to spot them and close enough to observe closely the drive will have been worth while.

SAME FUTILE ROUTE?

Editor of The Star: I think that in President Truman's proposed gift of $400,000,000 to Turkey and Greece we have one of the most critical problems in the history of our nation.

Before such a gift is granted I think that there are several questions which we ought to think through clearly:

(1) The foremost question of all in our minds is: Is this an effective way of demonstrating to the world the superiority of democracy over communism? The answer is no. For us to send our money and troops into another nation would be bitterly resented by the people of that nation. They would inevitably feel that America had imperialism rather than democracy as its goal.

(2) When American business interests put pressure on Mexico for oil concessions several years ago, what would have been our attitude if Russia had sent money and troops to Mexico to protect Mexico from American expansionism"?

(3) Have our state department officials explained all their motives for this action? To be sure, we all want to see the expansion of Communism halted, but isn't the fabulous Middle East oil field another factor that is luring our money and troops over there?

(4) Won't this gift constitute a terrific indictment of the United Nations Organization? For the greatest nation of the world to bypass the U.N.O. and completely ignore it will fatally undermine the only hope the present world has for building a peaceful society. While it is true that U.N. does not have a police force to carry out its decisions, such a police force could speedily be created once this country threw its weight in favor of such a proposal.

(5) Do those who talk so glibly of war with Russia, realize that the next war instead of protecting freedom, liberty, or democracy or anything else, will be so devastating that civilization will be retarded for hundreds of years? The atomic scientists are not kidding when they frantically cry for atomic control. They know that no one country has a monopoly of atomic knowledge. They know that fear of atomic bombs would be so great in the next war that a tremendous secret police force would be needed. Our nation would inevitably have to resort to fascist and gestapo methods. How could such a war be a war to defend democracy?

(6) Aren't we foolishly taking the same old futile route to solve our world's problems? Once we said, Wipe out Italy and all our probems will be solved. Then it was, Wipe out Germany. Then, it was, Wipe out Japan. All these were wiped out—and thoroughly. Now, it is, Wipe out Russia. But we all know that should 1,000 atomic bombs be dropped on Russia today, and it was reduced to a mass of smoking flesh, charred ruins, and twisted girders, the great problems of mankind would still remain.

The great problem of mankind will never be solved by physical force. "Those who lift up the sword shall perish by the sword!" Only as men get on their knees, atone for their sins, and return to God, will they find peace and the path to a brotherly world. The Lord is saying to our nation: "America, thou hast been richly blest. Thou are strong in wealth and science. To whom much has been given, much is required. America, take your eyes off the purse and lift them to the hills from whence cometh real strength."

"But, Lord, while we are lifting our eyes to the hills, what will the Russians do?"

And the Lord will answer and say, "If I will that they hurry till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou Me."

ELDRED JOHNSTON,
210 Bellefontaine Ave.

There are more than 6,000,000 farms in the United States.

WARNS OF "BUST." The president of the National Association of Manufacturers, Earl Bunting, is pictured in New York during a press conference as he emphasized that government, management and labor must work in close co-operation to resist increased costs and prices to the public. If the price spiral is permitted to go uncurbed much longer, he warned, "we are in for the biggest bust ever."

Today Is Deadline For AAA Signing

Today was the final date for Marion county farmers to sign up for participation in the 1947 AAA conservation program.

Frank G. Montgomery, county AAA chairman, said although no final figures were yet available on the total signup, indications were that it would be "good."

By participation in the AAA program of adopting soil conserving practices, farmers receive government benefit payments. The government allocation to the county this year is $89,118.

Farm plans already submitted indicate a majority of farmers will participate in fertilizer and lime application practices.

TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1947

Now That April's Here

APRIL probably has been written about more than any other month, June finishing up the track a well-winded second.

In English, Chaucer started it all 550 years ago when the language had not fully emerged from its chrysalis. He wrote: "Whan that Aprille with his shoures sote the droghte of Marche hath perced to the rote." And every year April's sweet showers have pierced March's drouth to the root, right down to this era when Vernon Duke got across the same idea in "April in Paris."

The reason for this lyricizing is not far to seek. When a man looks at a tree in April, he admires it for what it is and not as a possible source of stove wood. When he scans the sky he is not looking for clouds bringing snow, thus has time to enjoy the cerulean blue and the protean beauty of the clouds. In August, a buttercup is just a buttercup, but in April it is a symbol of the miracle of resurgent life. In April, man enjoys the robin's matinsong. A few months later he wishes the bird observed union hours.

Life is fresh and washed clean in April. Winter is gone. The sun is warm. The baseball players flexes his muscles. The voice of the cleaning woman is heard in the land. Life takes on new meaning. The year has come full cycle.

Potatoes for Tito

YUGOSLAVIA, land of Tito and the studied slur of all things not Communist, is to receive an undetermined amount of surplus American potatoes, according to the state department.

This brings to mind a few questions as to just what will happen to that food when it disappears behind the Iron Curtain. Will it help feed guerillas in Greece? Will potato soup become a staple item for Yugoslav troops making menacing gestures in the direction of Turkey? Will Yugoslavia distribute the potatoes in the hungry villages with the discreet word that they are just another token of friendship from Moscow? Granted that we have potatoes to burn, are there no nations just as needy as Yugoslavia and far more favorably disposed toward us?

The state department may have logical reasons for its policy in this matter. A few of them ought to be made public.

Kegler Truman

NEWS THAT two bowling alleys are being installed in the White House suggests that the Republicans had better have a sharp look at the sporting proclivities on their presidential possibilities. A bowling candidate is a candidate to be reckoned with.

Once the bowling alley was a shabby establishment frequented by people who, if they were not of questionable repute, at least didn't add any class to the joint. Now it is a chromium-trimmed, neon-lighted palace filled to overflowing with the most wholesome-looking people imaginable, and the busiest night of the week is when the family leagues go into action. With more than 20,000,000 participants, bowling is America's fastest-growing sport.

If the President corners the bowlers' vote, he really will have rolled a strike, politically speaking. And by sending the first mineralite down the alley to open the 1948 American Bowling Congress, he would be throwing down the gauntlet to any Republican candidate photographed trolling for bass or wrestling a dispirited tarpon.

Peace Fatigue

IT'S a dull day any more when a psychiatrist, or some close relative, isn't telling someone in a loud, clear voice that more of us are potty than ever before and something should be done about it.

This is our suggestion for doing something about it: that instead of fussing around with fancy-Dan theories about what's wrong, we should face the cold, naked truth, the same being the existence of epidemic peace fatigue.

If more human beings are cracking up than should be cracking up, the cause undoubtedly is a relentless flood of adversity that is overtaxing their mental fiber. What shall we do about the atomic bomb, the Soviet Union, Greece, Turkey, Albania, Trieste, China, India, the islands in the Pacific, communism, high prices, bureaucracy, the housing shortage, juvenile delinquency, adult delinquency, taxation, parking, safety in aviation, railroad incomes, sugar, potatoes, pork, the newsprint shortage? Will we survive? Will the bad wolf get the little pig? Tune in tomorrow and find out. Find in tomorrow and tune out . . find tomorrow and . . out . . . in . . . who . . . me . . . but . . . doctor . . . you . . . must . . . be . . . kidding.

Cotton became a marketable crop in the United States in 1620 although it was comparatively undeveloped until the invention of the cotton gin in 1793.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Juvenile Delinquency Takes New Turn.

WASHINGTON, April 1—The latest juvenile outbreaks around here have shown puzzling new aspects. Two eleven year old girls broke into a house to smear the walls and furniture with ink. A 12 year old boy went on a campaign stealing rings from the doors of new Buicks. Numerous homes have been entered and ransacked, but jewelry or money has not been taken, only a few pistols and fishing poles.

These children all come from the better class homes and all involved are under 14. All are far from undernourishment, are not at all ill clad and apparently have too much spending money. They seem to have in common a complete lack of respect for property, adults or consequences.

Now we had juvenile delinquency back when I was a boy, but it never then involved 10 to 14 year old children, but rather gangs of kids turning 16. Obviously the 10 to 14's are, or should be, completely under parental domination. They have not yet reached the age of reason. The guilt in their cases clearly rests on parental delinquency. Indeed there is practically no truly juvenile delinquency here now which cannot be attributed to parental delinquency. As the parents are among groups known as "the better class" no one knows what to do about it.

Wants Parents Responsible

The neighborhood seems agreed a law should be passed making parents responsible for the acts of their youngsters who have not reached the age of reason. I made some investigation and found there already is such a law in many states.

A standard juvenile court act, originally drafted in 1925 by the National Probation Association, "Any person who commits any act or omits the performance of any duty, which act or omission causes or tends to cause, or encourage any child to come within the purview of subdivision 1 of section III of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, may be tried for such offense in the juvenile court, and upon conviction may be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment." This section outlines a specific offense generally known as contributing to delinquency, or neglect. States which have accepted this principle include Arizona, D. C., Indiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah and Wisconsin, while parts of the act have been adopted by California, Connecticut, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon and Virginia.

The trouble, then, is that the act is not being enforced. What is needed is some public impetus demanding enforcement.

Some communities are taking steps. The New York City police department announced Jan. 28 it would bring parents to trial for crimes committed by their children. In San Francisco, parents brought into court for delinquencies are being given suspended sentences provided they attend a parents school, which, they say, is quite successful.

Parents Court Set Up

In Hornell, New York, a delinquent parents' court has been set up. Parents in eight flagrant cases were brought in and tried before a city judge. The parents were released after warnings, and police there report only one repeater case has developed. At Altadena, Calif., civic groups have set up their own unofficial courts to try parents. In social circles, considerable discussion has developed about "the Altadena plan." Personally I am opposed to it. Citizens should not be permitted to establish their own courts, but should be required to rely on established courts and established law.

Many other numerous local steps to make parents assume responsibility for the acts of their children have come to my attention — but not enough. Civic groups should look into this phase and require their local police force to follow the example of New York City. Nothing national or federal can be done apparently. The department of justice here has recently established a juvenile delinquency bureau under Eunice Kennedy, but she has no money yet, and the policy of the department anyway is to develop curative steps through the schools, homes and churches, rather than pushing the parental responsibility angle. This is all to the good, of course, and represents enlightened progress since the days of Mrs. Roosevelt's leadership promoting the spending of more money to build more playgrounds by the city democratic machines as the cureall for juvenile delinquency. However, if you are going to get anything done about the current situation, you will have to move on a local basis.

For Once, He'll Be Looking For Strikes

A regulation bowling alley is being built in the basement of the White House.

The news comes as a surprise to those who thought the President was getting ample exercise going to the mat with congress.

Originally billed as a piano player, Mr. Truman has progressed from walking to horseshoe pitching to bowling. Who knows but that he may yet turn up as weight lifter?

In fact, some are already saying that he may even be strong enough to carry the party in '48.

In this connection, news of the bowling alley will doubtless fret the Republicans. He'd hardly be making such improvements unless he had every intention of renewing his lease.

It will afford the G.O.P. little comfort, as the President hits his bowling and political stride, nightly to hear the capitol grounds resound with the cry: "Set 'em up in the other alley!"

View of Political Trends

By RAYMOND MOLEY

LOS ANGELES, April 1—After a party has won a smashing victory at the polls, a moment comes, a few months later, when public reaction sets in. With regard to the Republican party, that moment is now. That has been evident in every stop this reporter has made on this trip. Many reasons are assigned for this change, some of which are justified, and some of which are due to public caprice.

Nobody expected anything flashy in the Taft-White leadership in the senate. The tone there was bound to be stolid and unimaginative. But Sen. Taft did a lot of tall talking, and bright expectations were born everywhere. Moreover, Taft who is no man to evade responsibility, took over the tough job of labor legislation himself. The toiling of his committee has been wearisome to watch. Labor leaders have been obstructionist. Some of the younger Republicans have been off the reservation. Democrats have assumed a "show me" attitude, and nothing has been done.

Tax Situation Complicated

Early promises of tax reduction were based on little real information. As a result, Republican leadership has been backing and filling as new facts have dribbled in. Promises have been revised from day to day. The public is by now pretty cynical about the whole thing. Cuts may be 10 per cent for some and 20 per cent for others. But nobody knows who the "some" are or who the "others" are. Everybody suspects the worst.

The Lilienthal affair has been dragged out to absurd lengths. The world is not waiting for Lilienthal or anybody else. The matter should have been settled weeks ago, and somebody, if not Lilienthal, should have been selected. He is not an indispensable man.

Senator Donnell did a grand job with the portal-to-portal bill, and that is over the dam. But this has been an exception.

This Republican congressional leadership has achieved a miracle. It has been so awful that Harry Truman has been shining and refreshing in comparison.

The innumerable presidential candidacies in the senate and elsewhere have blurred the picture. All the aspirants, except the forthright Stassen, refuse to say whether they will or whether they will not run. We witness a veritable cloudburst of reticence and hypocrisy.

Much Indecision

The country is like an audience seated in a theater, waiting while the management is trying to decide whether to produce "Uncle Tom's Cabin" or "Oedipus Tyrannus." Meanwhile, the members of the company are trying to decide whether they want to be actors or stagehands. The audience in this case is beginning to whistle and stamp its feet.

We are going to see some of this reaction in concrete terms before long. Local elections will show the trend. In Chicago, the Republicans, during the hangover after November, thought they had a sure thing. Their candidate for mayor was the product of overconfidence. The battered Kelly machine came up with a good candidate. Now, on the eve of election, it looks all Democratic. In Colorado last fall, the Republican leadership turned drab and shopworn. The Democrats came back after years of defeat and elected a good governor.

In California, as this is written, Republicans are making no bones about their disappointment in the behavior of their party. The drift may well change before 1948, but right now Truman would probably be reelected. Or to put it another way, the Republicans would probably defeat themselves.

Soft coal mining in the unionized Central competitive field was at a standstill as 150,000 United Mine Workers went on a strike. The strike was a result of failure of union leaders and operators to agree on a wage scale to replace the Jacksonville contract providing a basic daily wage of $7.50.

Less Danger in Direct Action

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE intervention in the Middle East is much more likely to succeed if the primary purpose, which is to exert American military power upon the Soviet power, is clearly avowed. The military and diplomatic risks will be no larger, indeed they are almost certain to be smaller, if the administration makes it clear to Moscow, to Europe, and to our own people that this is a strategic operation, that it is designed not only to check the expansion of Soviet power but to bring about its contraction.

We have selected Turkey and Greece not because they are especially in need of relief, not because they are shining examples of democracy and the four freedoms, but because they use the strategic gateway to the Black Sea and the heart of the Soviet Union.

In exerting our own power at the point where the Soviet Union is most vulnerable, our intention is to relieve the pressure around the whole Eurasian borderland and to relax the grip of the Soviet upon the European continent.

By taking measures to make sure that we could enter the Black Sea, we not only make it sure that the Soviets will not enter the Mediterranean, but also that we can negotiate with them effectively about the withdrawal of their military power from Europe.

Greater Risk

The military risk of confronting Russia with American power directly is less than the alternative, which is to do the same thing indirectly and defensively. Granted that there is a risk of war, the risk is greater if the two powers act through Balkan satellites than if they face each other without intermediaries.

For then either Russia or America can be committed, and irreparably entangled, by intrigue and incidents which are carried out by their satellites. The danger of war, as Gen. Eisenhower pointed out the other day, is in some stupid local incident which cannot be localized. The danger that a Tito or a Greek Fascist will start something that only a war can finish is much greater than that Stalin and Molotov, confronted directly by Truman and Marshall, will deliberately choose war rather than a general settlement.

At the Moscow conference it has become reasonably clear that for the time being Russia is compelled to care most for the economic assistance she can get out of Europe.

No doubt she would dominate Europe if she could, but her immediate and most urgent interest in Europe is reparations for herself and help in her own reconstruction. She will tighten her grip on Europe if that will get her more material returns. There is reason to think she would relax her grip if that would yield higher immediate returns.

The American intervention in the Middle East is in itself a powerful means of causing her to relax her grip. It is one blade, so to speak, of the scissors of liberation from Soviet domination. The other blade is necessarily a project of European economic reconstruction, which will in large measure have to be financed out of our own surplus capital. A way will have to be found, to put it in its elemental terms, to ransom Europe and to revive it.

Much Money Needed

Distributing doles to Greece, Turkey, Korea, Iran and others on the periphery will not do the job. The doles will never be sufficient and there will be no end to them. It will take real money in large amounts to revive Europe, money both for capital replacement and as working capital. This money will be well spent, even though the amount is large, if the essential military and political conditions are met.

They should be the withdrawal of the Red Army, except for control of forces in Germany. The withdrawal of the Soviet objection to the decentralization of Germany, and the economic union of western and eastern Europe; that is to say, permission to the governments in the Russian orbit to participate in a European union and instructions from Moscow to all the Communist parties not to oppose the formation of such a union.

Were these great conditions met, the European union collectively, rather than Britain, France, Germany, Poland, Italy and the others separately, would become a good political risk for a large reconstruction loan. Out of this loan, and the increased productivity of Germany and of Europe which would be in sight, Russian needs for reparations could be met more substantially than they can possibly be met in any other way.

But none of this, let us repeat, is possible unless it is preceded by a political settlement—that is to say, by the withdrawal of the Red army and the release of eastern Europe, in the form of permission to the governments and instructions to the Communist parties to facilitate the European union.

Thus intervention in the Middle East is one of the means to an end. It is a strategic operation to check and reduce Soviet military expansion. Its complement is a comprehensive political and economic operation to release Europe so that it may unite, and to help finance Europe so that it may recover.

This is a policy of which the risks and the costs are large. But they can be borne because the policy itself is directed without obscurity or equivocation to a settlement in which the vital interests of all are recognized, the security of all, including Russia, established.

The alternative is a stalemate and increasing chaos, rising tension and animosity, and in the end civil strife and a catastrophic world war.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Glocca Morra Question

This department, always alert in the public service, has done something about a question that has been ringing across America for months now. Into office, shop, phone and restaurant and radio and juke box has come a mournful query which nobody has bothered to answer: How are things in Glocca Morra?

* * *

Could thousands of sopranos, tenors and baritones be asking this day and night and not really give a darn? Could it be possible that millions of Americans, hearing the question raised, have no curiosity about the answer? We thought not. So we contacted a few Glocca Morra men, as it were.

* * *

There is no community actually named Glocca Morra, but in many parts of Ireland there is a Gort na Clora Mora, which means a rocky glen where the leprechauns convene. Some of our best friends are leprechauns. We got one on the telephone, quite a feat in itself and put the question, "How are things in Glocca Morra" right up to him.

"Terrible," he replied, just as if he were in Dublin, London, Berlin, Moscow, Lake Success, New York or Ansonia, Conn. "Things are so tight it's a struggle to make both ends meet."

"Do you get any sugar?" we asked.

"Only with a lot of influence."

"How about rents?"

"A leprechaun can't get room in a pint-sized glen these days without he buys all the furnishings."

"What, no Quonsetts!" we exclaimed.

"Not even a banshee would take one of them things," was the reply, although Lorcan O'Nualain is living in one with his goat."

* * *

"What's the industrial situation?"

"Sure, leprechauns have never been bothered much with industrial situations in the past, but the world has gone so cockeyed today that we're beginning to feel such things. A lot of leprechauns who never thought of such a thing before are now asking the shorter leprechaun were I thought I'd never seen a red leprechaun but they're around boring from within. The situation is worrisome."

"How's with the money in the so-called Glocca Morra areas?"

"Everybody's tightening up."

"What's the situation with those crocks of gold which the poet James Stephens used to sing about in the Gort Na Clocca Mora belt?"

"It's all buried in an Irish Fort Knox. Not even a leprechaun has been able to get at it."

* * *

"I hear the leprechauns are using silver."

"Worse than that. I know some Sheogs and Cluricauns that are only hiding brass and tin. The life in Gort na Clora Mora isn't what it was. There are lumps in it, as the Philosopher said to Meehawl MacMurracher the time he was discussing Bessie Hannigan who has whiskers like a goat and a lame leg."

"It's a time of uncertainty and apprehension with you, too, then?"

"It's years since I felt like playing the old games of Cap-on-the-Back, Twenty-four years on a Billy-goat's Tail, Hole and Taw or Hornets and Robbers," sighed the leprechaun.

"Is inflation on the rise?"

"To weave a spell that used to cost $10 I now have to ask $50. It's turrible, turrible," was the answer.

"But anywhere in the Glocca Morra belt has there been any talk of the United States stepping in to take over?"

"Only last night there was a meeting on the subject," was the reply.

In New York City the police have been ruthlessly tossing out of windows the belongings of two allegedly eccentric old men, who lived alone in Fifth Avenue and apparently never threw anything away. Crowd in the streets cheered. It continues to shock and mystify us. We find but one clue to the sad performance an ancient sled found in the litter. Could it be that this relic of a happy boyhood, this reminder of a sweeter day in a less cockeyed civilization was more than any harassed, cynical New York could endure?

The police base their claims that the two old men were crazy on the fact that the dwelling was checked full of odds and ends accumulated through the years. But Mrs. Elmer Twitchell says that there isn't a husband in America who left alone at home three days, can't get a house in greater disorder.

Two extra skyscrapers are to be built by UN in New York. The boys have developed a fixed idea that the farther they get from the earth the better things will look.

Lawn Party

By TRUMAN TWILL

As the neighbor lady yelled when she heard the tin cans rattling, "Come and be laughing. Twill is cleaning up his yard."

The tin cans, pop, beer and whisky bottles, lost mittens, throw-away reading matter, fallen branches, widowed overshoes, sleds, wind-blown slate, bleached bones and miscellaneous debris have been raked off and piled up, ready for redistribution.

The matted, soot-stained grass which continued to grow last fall long after it should have shriveled up and died has been combed out with a rusty rake.

The spots inhabited by noxious weeds have been studied despondently: would it be better to dig up the weeds and have no greenery at all, or to tolerate the weeds as an acceptable substitute for the grass that won't grow anyway?

Quantities of mysterious compounds have been littered over the "lawn." These compounds are wonderful for the morale of the people who use them. What they do to things in the ground is as vague as the table of contents printed on the sack.

In order to litter them scientifically, however, the custodian of the "lawn" had been provided this season with a little cart equipped with a doodad that makes the whatcha-call-it run through a hoot-nanny and thereby makes certain no one thing will grow less than any other.

Grass seed has been sown. It would have been cheaper to cover the area with Chinese pennies, besides being more practical. This was the year to sow real seeds. Every other year sawdust is used, on the principal it is easier to handle, less costly and produces as much grass.

The customary effort has been made to do something about the area just off the back porch steps where by actual count on a normal day 49 kids and a dozen adults scuffed the life out of the blade of grass that grew there years ago when Roosevelt II still reigned.

Special attention has been given to the place under the tree where grass never has grown—but sometime might. The banks have been stared at morosely and let alone. No one ever successfully raised grass on a bank. Why try?

There is obtainable this year a new whingus that has the grass seed, fertilizer and everything pressed into it. You buy it by the running yard and nail it down. The rains come, the sun shines, the seeds germinate, the wingus decomposes—and there's your lawn. We didn't use this, but it's the way you'll take care of your lawn in the future.

But not ours. Everybody else will grow grass thick as hair on a dog, but when future springs come the neighbor lady will still be laughing at Old Hopeful raking up the winter litter and getting ready for another experience in how not to have a "lawn."

Youth for Christ Leaders Honored At Service Here

At a meeting of the Marion Youth for Christ movement in the Masonic hall Saturday night, Rev. C. E. Hershey and Rev. Marion Lewis, leader and co-leader, and Mr. Wesley Chatfield, pianist for the meetings for some time, were honored. The service included a message by Rev. David Wilkerson of the Church of the Open Door at Milwaukee, Wis., and a program of music.

Rev. Lewis and Mrs. Chatfield, who have been active in the Marion youth endeavor in the near future were presented New Testament volumes from the Youth for Christ. Rev. Lewis and Dr. Hershey, who will leave on a missionary tour of Central and South America April 7, were presented gifts by the committee-men's group of Youth for Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Chatfield will enter soon full time work in the field of musical evangelism, with headquarters in Columbus. Rev. Lewis plans to make his temporary evangelistic headquarters at Pensacola, Fla.

Dr. Hershey and Rev. Lewis will travel in the Latin Americas in the interest of Youth for Christ, aiding in the progress of the work there and helping establish new units in cities which have not previously been introduced to the movement. W. A. Hough and Howard Jones spoke briefly on the beginning of Youth for Christ in Marion before the gifts from the committeemen were presented to Dr. Hershey and Rev. Lewis. Clifford Ward made the presentation of Rev. Lewis and Mrs. Chatfield of the Testaments in behalf of the entire Youth for Christ body. Shelby Abbott, a former committeemen, now living in Erlinger, Ky., offered prayer.

At the beginning of the service, Dr. Hershey gave the opening prayer which was followed by a song service directed by Rev. Lewis. Special vocal selections were Patsy and Peggy Irey of Caledonia, and Dr. Hershey and Rev. Lewis sang a duet. For his message, Rev. Wilcox used "Witnessing." He declared that "There is need for the Christian today to give a clearcut testimony for the Lord Jesus. Christ's command, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel,' is a commission to believers today as well as to those to whom the Lord addressed it." Several responded to the invitation at the close of the message, it was stated.

High Court Approves Sale of Pullman Firm

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—The supreme court yesterday approved sale of the Pullman Company sleeping car business to a group of 43 railroads.

The sale was opposed by the justice department on the ground that it would merely substitute a "more powerful monopoly" for one which had been adjudicated illegal under the Sherman anti-trust act.

The sale was approved by a 4 to 4 decision. No opinion was written. Justice Jackson took no part in the case.

Congressman Proposes Total Warfare Against Dread Cancer

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 1—Here it is again: an attempt to start a huge drive against cancer.

Next to heart disease, cancer is the greatest cause of death in the United States. Every three minutes someone dies of cancer.

Rep. Dirksen, Illinois Republican, has asked congress to vote $50,000,000 for a cancer fight.

James Marlow

It would be done in the same way this country developed the atomic bomb: by pooling the best medical and scientific brains and efforts.

Last year Rep. Neely, West Virginia Democrat, asked congress to vote $100,000,000 for the fight. But congress didn't. Now Dirksen tries it.

Fight Divided Now

Cancer research in this country is being done by specialists, private hospitals and laboratories, and by the government's own research center, the National Cancer Research institute near Washington.

This is what Dirksen's proposal would do, if congress approves it:

The money, $50,000,000, would go to President Truman. He could call in the best medical and scientific men in the country.

They could work out a plan for a general fight on cancer so that, in place of the present somewhat scattered efforts, a real drive could start.

More money might be needed later. And the American program could be carried on in cooperation with scientists abroad.

Terror of Cancer

This will give an idea of the terror of cancer:

In 1900 cancer was ninth on the list of killing diseases. Now it's second, next to heart disease. Cancer deaths are going up.

In 1944 about 175,000 people died of cancer. In 1945 the number was 177,000. The 1946 figures are not in yet. They'll be higher.

About 273,000 Americans died in action in World War II. In the years 1942 through 1945 about 675,000 people died of cancer.

When he made his proposal to congress, Dirksen said:

"While the death rate for many common diseases has been steadily declining, the death rate for cancer has been increasing.

"The grim and ironic paradox is that medical science has taught us how to save our children from smallpox, from diphtheria, from scarlet fever, from dysenteries and diarrheas, only to have them reach an age at which they may be killed by cancer.

Expectancy 65 Years

"Medicine has succeeded magnificently in the effort to prolong life, so that a baby at birth is said to have a life expectancy of almost 65 years.

"But though the chances for each baby to reach adulthood are good, the chances for an adult to die of old age have improved hardly at all.

"Cancer is essentially a disease of adults. It is because human beings are living longer that cancer is now assuming an importance which it formerly did not have.

"As more persons reach maturity, their chance of being stricken by cancer increases.

"A woman at 35, a man at 45, enters upon the period of greatest danger.

"What we need is total warfare against cancer—fundamental research in biology, physics, chemistry, medicine, on any question that offers the slightest hope of a connection with the subject of cancer."

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Glaucoma

Glaucoma is a very serious disease of the eyes, but, according to Dr. Edwin W. Dyar of Indianapolis, it should not be considered as an always hopeless condition. That is, it does not necessarily cause blindness. If patients would only go to their doctors at the first sign of eye trouble and if doctors are always on the alert for it, so that it can be diagnosed early and treated properly, its ill effects may be warded off.

There is always some pressure of the fluid in the front part of the eyeball but when this pressure is increased beyond the normal, then glaucoma results. In its acute form, glaucoma causes a great deal of redness of the eyeball, due to congestion of the blood vessels. The pupil or opening in the eyeball is dilated or increased in size. There is a great deal of pain around the eye, and speedy loss of vision.

In another form known as the compensated type there may be few, if any, symptoms. The pupil is normal in size; the vision is fairly good and there is neither redness of the eye, nor pain. This condition comes on gradually. The patient often complains of a halo or colored rays around lights. Other symptoms which may be present from time to time are headaches which come and go and are particularly present over the temples at night or during the early morning. Later on, the pupil may become dilated and there may be some gradual loss of eyesight.

In the first type of glaucoma, surgical treatment is often necessary. According to Dr. Dyar, in the other type surgical treatment is used only as a last resort. In the treatment, a careful search should be made for any infections in the body and these should be cleared up when possible. The fluids taken should be reduced. Excessive excitement should be forbidden. Sedative or quieting drugs may be employed as necessary and, of course, prescribed by the physician in the right dose. There are certain preparations known as myotics which can be employed to help overcome the difficulty. The kind used and the frequency, will be decided by the eye specialist.

A patient with glaucoma of this type should be under the constant care of the physician, who will keep him in the best possible physical condition, while the eye specialist will observe the progress of the glaucoma and also decide what specific treatment for it is necessary.

Clubwomen Turn Attention Toward Fine Arts Day

INTEREST of local clubwomen is centered on the annual community fine arts day scheduled for Tuesday, May 6, and plans are already under way for the one-day event which promises to be outstanding. The program will be given at the First Evangelical and Reformed church. While committees and chairmen are busy planning the program, clubwomen in general are completing their part in the event which includes entries in the short story, poem and essay contest and the scrapbook displays

Mrs. Clare W. Smith, literature chairman, has announced April 15 as the deadline for entries in the short story, poem and essay contest. Entries are to be sent to her home at 651 Vernon Heights boulevard not later than the deadline date, she announces. The judge this year will be Mrs. Paul Alexander of Maumee, who is widely known in club circles throughout the state for her book reviews and interest in literature, will judge the entries, Mrs. Smith states.

Scrapbooks, Mrs. Smith announces, are to be taken to the City library Friday morning, May 2 for judging. The judging this year is to be done earlier in order that clubs may enter their exhibits in the contest at the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs which will be held at Columbus the same week. Entries will be taken to Columbus following the fine arts day program Judges for the scrap books are Mrs. Ethel Miller, a member of the Marion public library staff, Carl Diebel of the Jay H. Maish advertising staff and DeWitt Farrar of the Howard Swink Advertising agency.

"International Relations" is the general theme for the fine arts day. Plans include outstanding speakers and the clubs have been asked to provide the setting by arranging booths or tables interpreting some country of their choice. The central theme will be the United States. Clubs may arrange more than one booth, the committee states.

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that S.S.S. Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the S.S.S. Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, S.S.S. Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on S.S.S. Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. S.S.S. Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Those wishing to be baptized Easter Sunday or to have children baptized then may do so at 9:45 a. m. at Meeker and at 11 at New Bloomington, the pastor stated.

In Memory Of
★Our son, Arthur L. Akron, who passed away six years ago today April 1, 1941.
There is a mother who misses you sadly
And finds the time long since you went,
And I think of you daily and hourly,
But try to be brave and content.
But the tears that I shed in silence,
And I breathe a sigh of regret,
For you were mine, and I remember
Though the world forget.

Bronx Bus Driver Mum on Reason For Long Joy Ride

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., April 1—The driver of a 44-passenger bus from the Bronx was in jail here today while authorities who impounded his empty conveyance when they took him into custody awaited word from New York as to what disposition will be made in the case.

Police Chief Philip A. Thompson identified the driver as 37-year-old William Lawrence Cimillo of the Bronx, N. Y. Cimillo gave no reason why he started out on a routine run Friday morning and wound up in Hollywood, 1,300 miles away.

Married and the fathe rof three children, Cimillo said he "just started out and kept going." He added that "the fellows at the bus company will understand, I'm sure."

Cimillo was taken into custody at the Gulfstream park race track where he said he went to "see if I couldn't scrape up some money."

"I didn't know where I was headed — Florida, Mexico, California — I could have wound up any place," he said. "It just happened that I hit highway No. 1 and wound up in Florida.

"One thing I want to get clear: I haven't had any trouble at home. I've got a swell wife and three swell kids."

Cimillo said he drove about 15 hours the first day, spent the night in a tourist cabin somewhere in Virginia, stopped Saturday night in a south Georgia tourist camp, and arrived in West Palm Beach Sunday night.

He said he drove to Hollywood yesterday morning, parked the bus on a side street, telegraphed the bus company for money, and then decided to go to the race track. Police arrested him up there when he called at the track's Western Union office to get the money. He was being held for investigation.

OHIO, KENTUCKY PAINTERS SET FOR WORK STOPPAGE

Demand Pay of $2.06 Per Hour—36 Cent Increase.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., April 1 — More than 1,000 Cincinnati and northern Kentucky painters today were pledged to remain away from their jobs until individual contractors pay them $2.06 an hour, an increase of 36 cents, reported Matthias P. Wissel, secretary of Painters District Council 12—AFL.

The strike action was approved, he said, after expiration last night of the old contract, providing $1.70 hourly rate, with members of the Cincinnati chapter, Painting and Decorating Contractors of America. The union's jurisdiction covers Hamilton county (Cincinnati) and Campbell and Kenton counties in Kentucky.

The union official said the contractors had offered five cents more on the hour.

However, a spokesman for the contractors said the union also had rejected its request for wider use of paint sprayers. The expired contract permitted spraying on iron doors and grills but prohibited use of spray guns for almost every other kind of job," he explained.

"The strike is a blow at the private home builder," said Fred Fast, president of the Contractors' association, adding high wages retarded private enterprise housing projects.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Amy Snyder Gompf, two sons, Willard and Orville Gompf, both of Columbus, and a brother, Dennis Gompf of 438 Smith street.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 1 p. m. in the Woodyard funeral home on State street in Columbus near the capitol building.

Anti-Phone Strike Bill "Urgent" Vote Demanded

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), called the house labor committee together today for a vote on his "urgent" bill to block next Monday's threatened telephone strike.

House leaders, however, regarded the measure as considerably less urgent than Hartley. They conceded that chances for passage in the house alone this week are slim because of plans to recess tomorrow for an Easter holiday from all important business.

One top Republican said privately he thinks there will be no communications tie-up. Organized labor is smart enough to know, he said, that a strike of serious proportions at this time might boommerang.

Congress is bent on tightening up labor laws to curb strikes, and he said a walkout of any kind on a national scale might lead to a much tougher bill.

AKRON BUS STRIKE SETTLEMENT FOUND

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., April 1—Union officials announced today they had reached a tentative agreement with the Akron Transportation Co., thus averting a bus strike originally set for last midnight.

W. W. Wright, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, made the announcement, but declined to disclose terms of the agreement.

The proposals will be submitted to the 500 union members at a meeting set for 2 a. m. tomorrow, Wright said.

The announcement came as union and company officials ended a conference which had been in almost continuous session since yesterday morning.

Fish, Game Laws Saved By Last Minute Rush

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—Fish and game enforcement regulations and authority for counties to pay bounties of $1 to $5 for killing red and gray foxes still were law in Ohio today but they had a close call.

The senate completed passage of the measure continuing the statutes and rushed it to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert who signed only a few hours before midnight when the law would have expired.

The senate discovered last Thursday that it had only five days to act. The senate conservation committee, after a brief hearing for both opponents and proponents of the fox bounty, recommended passage and the senate passed the bill 28 to 0. An emergency clause made it effective when the governor signed it.

tall, had Danish features and was ordinary looking except for his monocle. He wore elevator shoes to make him appear taller.

"Butcher" General Charged

He commanded Greek troops as a prince in 1922 in the war against Turkey and was accused of treating them as cannon fodder. But when his father was driven from the throne, he became King of the Hellenes.

The Greeks decided after 15 months that they had had enough and he went into exile for 12 years. He talked of moving to California and growing oranges, but instead, visited the capitals of Europe and their night clubs and enjoyed a little hunting.

He was recalled to the throne after a military coup in 1935 but soon was overshadowed by the military dictator, John Metaxes. He fled into exile for a second time in 1941 when the Germans invaded Greece and lived mostly in London on $5,000 a year during the war until his recall to the throne after a plebiscite last September.

Feted by Roosevelt

He was married for a time to Princess Elizabeth, daughter of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Romania, but she ended the childless marriage with a divorce.

His last visit to the United States was in 1942, when he sought a lend-lease grant for Greece. The late President Roosevelt feted him at the White House.

Springfield Slayer Must Die in Chair Tomorrow

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—Denied a stay of execution, 23-year-old Russell Eugene Koons of Springfield must died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tomorrow night for the hatchet slaying of his mother.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert refused to halt the scheduled execution, announcing he had received a recommendation from the state pardon and parole commission "adverse to the exercise of executive clemency." The governor added he would "abide by the commission's recommendation."

At a clemency hearing last Friday, the commission heard pleas that Koons was not sane when he slew his mother with a hatchet in December, 1945. The Ohio supreme court rejected Koons' appeal from a first degree murder conviction by a three-judge common pleas court.

No Agitation Here For Fast Time Change

It appeared today as though spring's perennial controversy whether or not to convert to daylight saving time, would not bloom this year in Marion.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler said there has been no agitation this year to change to fast time. Last year suggestions that the city change over were met with considerable adverse criticism. Any change would have to be approved by city council.

The Cleveland city council last night rejected a proposal to authorize fast time by a vote of 20 to 10. The Associated Press reported.

Blind Couple And Seeing-Eye Dog Reported Missing

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—A 29-year-old woman and a middle aged man, both blind, met last night after a correspondence acquaintanceship and disappeared with a seeing-eye dog.

Mrs. Edna Frutchey appealed to police here and in Cincinnati to help find her daughter, Florence.

Florence was last seen getting into a taxicab at a Columbus hotel with Charles Owens of Cincinnati. They were to go to the train depot. Whether they took a train is not known, Mrs. Frutchey said.

The mother said that since Owens' home was Cincinnati, she thought the couple might have gone to that city. She visited Cincinnati last night in an unsuccessful effort to find them.

Mrs. Frutchey found her daughter missing when the mother returned home about 6 p. m. yesterday. It was then she discovered that Florence had been corresponding with Owens.

Asked by a newsman whether the couple might have eloped, Mrs Frutchey replied.

"It was the first time they had met. She didn't take any extra clothing with her, and I can't imagine where they might have gone."

H. N. Smith, room clerk at the hotel said Owens had stayed at the hotel for three days and had a seeing-eye dog. He described Owens as a "nice looking man, about 5 feet 10 inches tall, neatly dressed in a brown suit."

Miss Frutchey is about five one, has dark hair and brown eyes, and was wearing a tan coat.

The girl's father, Raymond, is a house painter.

Herbert Warns Road Strikers To Return

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, April 1—Notice was served by Gov. J. Herbert on 37 state highway workers at Jackson today that unless they returned to work they would lose their jobs.

The governor said he was told the workers were picketing the highway department garage at Jackson.

Samuel Anderson, secretary of the Ohio State Employes Council (AFL) said no new walkout had been ordered. About 300 unclassified highway department workers struck two weeks ago then returned to work after Gov. Herbert announced they would be off the payroll if they contiuned to strike.

Anderson reported that the division nine engineer, E. S. Barrett of Chillicothe, had fired 10 workers Saturday. Jackson is in division nine.

"I sent a man down there to see that they didn't start a wildcat strike," Anderson said.

Cleveland Children Miss Baseball Holiday

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 1—Cleveland school children almost received a free afternoon to watch the opening Cleveland Indians-Chicago White Sox baseball game here April 15.

Board member Charles A. Mooney, who made the proposal, withdrew from his position when other members expressed objections at a meeting yesterday.

Mooney's baseball resolution, which asserted "the opening of the baseball season has become a national holiday," brought opposition from member Franklin P. Polk, who said granting a recess was "not in keeping with good educational practice.

DEMOCRATS BLAMED FOR LIQUOR SURPLUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—There's a lot of liquor in Ohio monopoly stores that the drinking public doesn't seem to want, and State Liquor Director Stanley B. Cofall blames the oversupply on the Demorats.

Cofall asserted the state liquor department had "an extremely top heavy inventory because of unwarranted over-purchasing in the closing weeks of the previous administration."

"We would have no problem in lifting rationing," Cofall said, if the Democrats had loaded up on hard-to-get rationed brands such as bonded whisky.

The trouble is, Cofall explained, the state has an overstock of cordials which don't move fast like whisky.

Cofall disclosed that liquor stocks Jan. 25 stood at a record level of $29,758,276.89, as compared to $26,587,807.06 a month before and nearly $11,000,000 more than a year ago.

The liquor director said every effort was being made to "correct the situation."

At the same time, Cofall disclosed net profits in January were up $202,271 over the previous year despite a slump in sales from $8,246,273 to $7,511,978. The net profits last January totaled $869,004.

"HAT IN RING" FOR TAFT SEEN

Senator Believed Ready To Announce Candidacy Soon.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1 — Evidence piled up today that Senator Robert A. Taft will hit the political trail this summer in an open bid for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

Although Taft thus far has cloaked his intentions with statements that he is not an "active candidate" for the nomination, friends said he will come out into the open as soon as the current session of congress ends possibly in June.

Taft got the expected nod here last week from Ohio political managers who decided that he, rather than Senator John W Bricker, should be that state's favorite son aspirant.

There was no formal announcement and probably will be none until Bricker formally removes himself from the list of potential candidates where he has been catalogued since his unsuccessful race for vice president in 1944.

Bricker Ready with Statement

Bricker is understood to be willing to issue a statement supporting Taft at any time the latter's advisers think such action is opportune. Just now, they are said to be convinced it would be better to wait until congress adjourns before making the move that would bring the Taft candidacy into the open.

In this decision they apparently are influenced by the difficulties that would be presented to Taft — in his dual role as chairman of the senate labor and Republican policy committees — of attempting to carry on his legislative work as a publicly-labeled candidate.

Because he already is recognized as a potential candidate, Taft's motives are subject to some suspicion on the part of those Republican colleagues who would rather see some one else get the party nomination next year.

Would Hurt Work

Friends of the Ohio senator say that if his candidacy were brought out into the open now, these suspicions might be multiplied to the point where it would be difficult for Taft to marshal needed support for legislation he wants to put through.

The Ohio group apparently is not overlooking, either the activities of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, the only announced candidate for the top nomination. Stassen will be set for a splurge of platform appearances on foreign affairs topics when he returns from his present European tour.

The fear of the Taft group seems to be that Stassen might work himself into a position to block the necessary majority for either Taft or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York on the early ballots. They figure that if Stassen ever got in that position and had to choose between Taft or Dewey, the New Yorker stands the better chance of benefitting.

C. and O. Announces Plans for Coal Pier

CLEVELAND, April 1 — Plans of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company to construct a new low level coal pier at Newport News, Va., at estimated cost of $5,000,000, including necessary supporting yard facilities, were announced today by President Robert J. Bowman of the C. and O.

This construction will increase by thirty-three and one-third per cent the railroad's facilities for loading coal on ships at the Newport News terminus. The C. and O. now has at this shipping point two piers, No. 9 and 15, with a total of three dumpers and a combined capacity of 150,000 tons a month under favorable conditions.

In the next three to five years, it is expected approximately 2,000,000 tons of coal will be offered at Newport News piers each month, or 500,000 tons more per month than can now be handled, Bowman said. A third pier also will service as a reserve which will maintain loadings at near capacity while other facilities are under repair.

BIG FOUR

tary would seek a meeting with Prime Minister Stalin in the immediate future to discuss the German question.

Russia has demanded $10,000,000,000 in reparations from Germany over a 20-year period, some of it from current production.

This information concerning Marshall's intentions was made known by the highest authorities shortly before today's semi-private, informal Big Four session was to get under way.

Plain-Talking Expected

A check of the various delegations indicated that all four ministers were going into the smaller session today with the intention of doing some plain-talking in a drastic effort to determine whether any basis for compromise exists in the deadlocked problem of unification.

This amounts to an agreement to have a showdown now on whether anything is going to be accomplished on current German problems, at the center of which is reparations.

Responsible informants said that what Marshall wants, for one, is to "smoke out" the real Soviet position: is the demand for $10,000,000,000 in reparations the rockbottom Russian figure, or will they take less?

Speech Is First Move

Marshall's bristling speech last night, in which he rejected any idea of a Soviet ultimatum on reparations and said that the U. S. would rather leave Moscow with no agreements than with unsatisfactory ones, marked the start of his smoking out campaign.

Marshall was said to want to make it plain that he is not trying to end the conference. But after three and one-half weeks on the first seven items he wants to get on with the work. If nothing can be accomplished on current German problems, he will press to take up such issues as German boundaries, Byrnes' 40-year treaty and the like.

Anti-Trust Trial Ends

First Case Covering Industry on National Basis Concluded.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., April 1 — government's first anti-trust case covering a single industry on a national basis was ended today following acquittal of 76 manufacturers, jobbers and trade unions of charges of conspiracy to monopolize trade in the production and sale of plumbing supplies.

Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin acquitted the defendants here yesterday more than seven years after 102 persons, firms and unions engaged in production of 80 per cent of the industry's output were indicted by a federal grand jury March 29, 1940 on charges of conspiring to fix prices and restrict trade in the plumbing industry.

"A defendant's right to his 'day in court' is greatly diluted when he is forced to share it with 50 or more defendants," said Judge Wilkin. "In a mass trial identity of the person is likely to become lost in confusion and a defendant is likely to be convicted for what some one else did

Number of Conspiracies

"If the evidence tended to show conspirational conduct, it was conduct that revealed a number of smaller conspiracies, instead of the one overall conspiracy described in the indictment."

Of the orginal defendants, 14 pleaded nolo contendere and paid fines totaling more than $30,000 while nine indicted persons died and three cases were dismissed earlier. Judge Wilkin reported motions for dismissal were granted without argument in six of the 76 remaining cases, during argument in 12 cases, and after arguments were completed in 58 cases.

In sustaining motions for dismissal by all 76 defendants, Judge Wilkin concluded that "the evidence failed to support the charge that the defendants entered into a conspiracy on a nationwide basis," and that the evidence submitted was "voluminous and confusing."

Included "Big Three"

Defendants in the case included the "Big Three" producers of some 70 per cent of the nation's plumbing supplies, the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp., of New York, the Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis., and the Crane Co of Chicago.

Ohio defendants included the Hardware and Supply Co., Akron the Canton Master Plumbers association; the Cleveland Plumbing Contractors association and its secretary, H. W. Eckhardt; Eagle-Pitcher Sales Co., Cincinnati and sale manager, J. J. Harutun; the AFL-United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters of the United States and Canada; the union's local No. 94 at Canton and the local's financial secretary, W. E. Quirk; local No. 55, Cleveland, business agent C. J. Maher and Secretary John Roddy, and local No. 55's auxiliary, Cleveland.

American farmers cultivate one billion one hundred and forty-three million acres of land.

AIR FORCE PICTURES AT LEGION WEDNESDAY

GI Post To Show Movie War Department Films.

Featuring the weekly showing of war department films Wednesday night at the clubrooms of GI Post No. 384 American Legion, will be the "Army Air Force Report," which will show the men of the air force in operation and the location of each with reference to duties and assignment during the war. The film will show active combat in all theaters and will give the audience an opporunity to view the air force of pre-war days and its building up to the greatest combat unit in the world.

In connection with the picture there will be a meeting of all Army Air Force veterans in the county for the purpose of organizing an Air Force group under the command of the state wing, following the program hour. George D. Hildebrand, post service officer announced. The purpose of the Air Force association is to uphold the future of the Army Air Forces, air research and the air reserve training program, and also provides an opportunity to continue service friendships and to perpetuate Army Air Force traditions. Such groups are being organized throughout the state and country and it is the objective of the local veterans to be a working part of the state unit.

Completing the picture program will be a film, "Westward Is Bataan," a pictorial story of the campaign which won control of New Guinea, the use of the bases for operation of the Pacific war and the capture of Japan.

The program Wednesday night will be at 8 o'clock and is open to the public. The films are being shown through the cooperation of the local Army recruiting office, with First Sgt. Charlie I. Boulware in charge.

Soclitations at homes and business and industrial places will continue through April 12. Coin cans will be put out for the remainder of the month and other events will be held to raise money for the society.

The Marion county goal is $5,000. 60 per cent of which stays here to support the cancer clinic at City hospital and the remainder going to the national organization to further research.

Talks During Brain Surgery

By The Associated Press

HARTFORD, Conn., April 1—Members of the joint committee of the state's mental hospitals yesterday heard a report of a conversation carried on between a surgeon and a mental patient who was undergoing a delicate brain operation known as a prefrontal lobotomy.

The report was given by Dr. Benjamin Simon, clinical director of the Connecticut State hospital at Middletown, who told the committee that the patient was under a local anesthetic and fully aware of what was transpiring throughout the operation. The neuro-surgeon, Dr. Simon said, was working on the patient's brain through a hole about the size of a quarter.

The patient, said Dr. Simon, felt no pain as the surgeon cut through delicate brain fibres.

Dr. Simon quoted the dialogue between the surgeon and the patient like this:

"Are you feeling any pain?"

"No, doctor."

"What do you think of all this? What are they doing to you?"

"Well, he is doing some kind of operation on my head."

"What do you think it will do for you?"

"I want to be able to go back and work."

"Why can't you do that now?"

"I don't know. There is something the matter with my mind —Oh, I felt something then!"

(At that time, Dr. Simon said, the surgeon was cutting important nerve tracts known as frontothalmic fibres.)

"What did you feel? Did it pain?"

"No, it didn't hurt; it did something to the pressure."

"What do you mean by that?"

"It stopped the tension."

That, said Dr. Simon, was the end of the conversation.

Dr. Edgar C. Yerbury, superintendent of the Middletown hospital, said the patient, who was not identified, had been in the hospital since 1931. The patient's mother, he said, suffered from the same mental illness. The patient, said Dr. Yerbury, recovered from the operation in a short time and now is well enough to assume simple duties around the hospital. Plans are in process, Dr. Yerbury said, for the patient's return to his home community.

The superintendent said that the patient during his 18 years in the hospital had expressed bizarre ideas, had a persecution complex and periods of excitement and disturbed states. He also believed that he was a nobleman, Dr. Yerbury said, and experienced peculiar sensations and various head noises.

Guy's Red Raiders Whip Kirkpatrick Buckeyes 49-33 for Y.M.C.A. Title

Set Torrid Pace in Last Three Quarters of Tournament Final

By GEORGE ROEST

Setting a torrid pace in the last three quarters, Guy's Red Raiders downed Kirkpatrick's Buckeyes 49 to 33 to take the Y M C A. city championship last night. An estimated 250 fans packed the Y's upper gymnasium to witness the title match.

The first canto was the only nip and tuck one the game produced as the lead changed five times and the score was knotted the same number of times.

Guy's passing attack clicked after that and was the factor that decided the win. The teams had about an equal amount of luck on rebounds and were well matched in the speed department.

Tourney Pressure Shows

The Kirk men showed tourney pressure more than did the Raiders as they blew several scoring chances.

Both of these teams were from the A league. Guy's having won the championship of that loop in a playoff from the same outfit they had to down in the finals.

The sixth Guy-Buckeye affair, it was the fourth Guy win. They took the third and fourth wins last Saturday night and last night. The Buckeyes could have taken the crown by winning either contest while Guy's had to make a sweep. Earlier in the tournament the Buckeyes had whipped them 40 to 38. They were undefeated in the tourney until Saturday night.

Started Early

The Raiders started prepping for basketball early last fall while football was still going strong. An orphan club at first, they were unable to find a sponsor, so a team member's father, William H. Guy of Guy's Hardware, consented to sponsor. The team was managed by brothers, Fritz and Bob Guy.

Fritz, a three-year letterman with the Prexies in high school, acted as floor captain while playing and Bob manged from the bench, naming starting lineups and substitutions.

The team was composed of players who had experience with several different high school teams. Bill Smith played at Kent, Kenny Jones performed for LaRue, Paul Miers played for Harding, Tete Moran was an Irish regular, Bob Debolt saw action with Pleasant, and Don Williams, a Harding graduate, did not play high school ball.

The Buckeyes were composed of former Kirk players. Dick Hord was the high county scorer when in high school and Jim Frank played with Kirk last season, finishing as one of the county's top point makers. The team was managed by Jim Hord.

EDDIE MILLER CASTS LOT WITH CINCINNATI

Shortstop Decides To Play Ball with Old Team,

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., April 1 — The name of Eddie Miller was back on the Cincinnati Reds' roster today, thus solving the shortstop problem for Manager Johnny Neun.

Agile Eddie, who had quite a tussle with himself this spring trying to make up his mind whether he was going to play baseball at all, reported at training camp here yesterday, ready to go to work.

"I'm convinced now that I'm going to be all right," he said yesterday as the ink dried on his contract. "Soon as I was convinced of this, I was ready to join the Reds."

Miller's throwing arm had been troubling him.

Miller's appearance changed the picture considerably for sure-fielding rookies Kerit Wahl and Virgil Stallcup who had ambitions of becoming the regular shortstop.

A home run by Frankie Baumholtz, rookie outfielder, with pitcher Johnny Vander Meer abroad accounted for the Cincinnati markers yesterday as the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Reds, 7-2.

The Reds got only five other hits off Johnny Beazley and Jim Hearn, while the Cards shelled Vander Meer and Elmer Riddle for 13 safeties.

Edwards To Be Out Of Tribe Lineup 3 Weeks

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., April 1 — Outfielder Hank Edwards, only Cleveland Indian to hit in the .300 bracket last year, won't return to action for at least three more weeks, Manager Lou Boudreau reported today.

The Norwalk, O., red-head injured his right shoulder during an exhibition game with the New York Giants three weeks ago. He is wearing a special brace and has done some running.

In addition to Edwards, seven Indians already have been tried in the right field spot this spring. They are Gus Zernial, Hal Peck, Pat Seerey, Johnny Ward, Wayne Blackburn, Ted Sepkowski and Jim Wasdell.

Bob Feller will start the final exhibition game with the Chicago Cubs here today. It will be his fourth start of the exhibition season and probably his next to last hurling assignment before the Indians open the season against the Chicago White Sox in Cleveland Stadium April 15.

DiMaggio Biggest Question Mark of All Ball Players Docked for Repairs

By FRANK ECK
AP Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla. — Of all the major league ball players who pulled into drydock for operations and repairs during the off season, Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee Clipper, is the biggest question mark.

"Without him the Yanks will be in real trouble," says Manager Bucky Harris. "However, I think he'll be ready to open the season in center field for us in Washington on April 14."

DiMaggio has had two operations for the removal of a bone spur in his left heel, the second one after the first wound failed to heal properly.

George Stirnweiss, now regular second baseman of the Yanks, underwent a sinus operation in January and Snuffy claims he no longer has that stuffy feeling in his nose. He's a bit overweight but remains as fast as ever.

Bostonians Need No Repairs

Neither Boston team — the Red Sox or Braves — needed surgical attention during the off season.

Eddie Mayo, veteran second baseman who missed all but the first two months of 1946 with a combination of troubles including a lame back and shoulder, was the lone Detroit hospital case. Mayo aggravated his hurts in his collision with Hoot Evers in Washington last June 3.

During the summer Mayo underwent an operation for the removal of a disc in his vertebra which physicians said caused his back trouble. Mayo never got back into the lineup but recently at Lakeland he won back his second base job.

George Myatt returns to second for Washington. The Senator had a knee operation toward the end of last season to repair a torn cartilege. Jerry Priddy, who will start the season at short for the Senators, has the same trouble. Originally he planned to have it patched but didn't. He feels fine now and thinks he can make it.

JOE DIMAGGIO
Will Clipper Sail Again?

Each Chicago club had a player operated on last fall. Pitcher Johnny Rigney of the White Sox underwent surgery to correct a shoulder separation that restricted him to limited service in 1946, while utility infielder Albie Glossop of the Cubs had a knee operation.

Tribe Has Three Cases

Though probably the biggest operation around Cleveland was the 1947 salary slice Pitcher Bob Feller amputated from the gate receipts, the Indians had three genuine hospital cases.

Outfielder Hank Edwards, tonsillectomy; Catcher Jim Hegan, cyst on back, and Third Baseman Don Ross, hernia. (Ross has been sold to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league).

St. Louis Cardinal Third Baseman George (Whitey) Kurowski had fine bone chips removed from his right elbow and Centerfielder Terry Moore underwent a knee operation for the removal of a cartilege. Both say they will be ready on opening day.

Dr. Robert F. Hyland, noted St. Louis surgeon, operated on Brooklyn's Pete Reiser during the winter to repair a shoulder separation which prevented the National league batting champion of 1941 from combing his hair, let alone throw hard. Reiser also fractured his left ankle sliding back to first base just before the season closed but he ice skated much of the winter and may be back in shape.

Holds Sick Call Edge

The Philadelphia Phillies' Johnny Wyrostek hold the edge for hospital visits. The center fielder had three operations—tonsillectomy, appendectomy and another for the removal of a leg growth.

However, the Phil's Frank McCormick, regarded by many as the reason the Quakers finished a spirited fifth in the National league last year, is their biggest worry. He received treatment for a back ailment but did not undergo an operation.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have two players who went under the knife, Vinnie Smith, promising rookie catcher, whose right knee was treated, and Al Gionfriddo, outfielder, who will play this season minus his appendix.

It's an imposing list but Joe DiMaggio heads it because if he fails the Yankees fail with him and the Red Sox may again have a walkover in the American league.

BASEBALL, TRACK TO COMMENCE AT UPPER

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 1—Upper Sandusky High school's spring athletic program will bring two opening dates next week with the track team going to Fostoria Tuesday, April 8 and the baseball squad lifting the lid at home against Galion, Friday, April 11.

Coach Fred Koenig has a number of promising rookies working out on the diamond with the five returning regulars from last year, Joe Denman, John Bremeyer, Tom Wilson, Gene Rife and Jack Strasser. Games to follow the Galion tilt are: April 21, at Bellevue; April 24, Willard; April 28, Bucyrus; May 9, at Bucyrus; May 15, at Willard; May 19 Bellevue, and May 21, Shelby.

The large track squad working out under the direction of Coach Ben Tenwalde includes 12 veterans. The schedule opening with the trip to Fostoria April 8, continues with Galion, April 16; Huntington (W.Va.) Relays, April 19; Bucyrus, April 29, and the Northern Ohio league meet, in Upper Sandusky, May 7.

In the Cards

Writer Predicts St. Louis Will Take Flag Easily.

By GAYLE TALBOT
AP Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla., April 1 — The St. Louis Cardinals' infield should come to be recognized this year as one of the greatest in the history of baseball, and Manager Eddie Dyer's world champions most likely will win the National league flag by a decisive margin.

The foregoing is the principal fruit, so far as this writer is concerned, of six weeks spent wandering through the spring baseball mart, pinching the products and listening to the barkers.

The Red Birds should win again because they will be a better club than they were at any time in 1946.

If pressed for a complete order of finish in the National this observer would guess something like this: (1) St. Louis, (2) Brooklyn, (3) Boston, (4) Chicago, (5) Pittsburgh, (6) Cincinnati, (7) Philadelphia and (8) New York.

Except for some doubt about Captain Terry Moore's ability to play his usual sparkling ball in center field for more than 100 games, the Cardinals are set to open the race with a rush.

The team that appears to have the best chance of upsetting the above order of finish is Pittsburgh. With Hank Greenberg and Ralph Kiner, last year's twin home run kings, taking their big cuts in order, the Pirates might do almost anything—or nothing much.

BALL TEAM ORGANIZED

The newly organized Blue Birds independent baseball club held an organization meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. Fritz Walters, shortstop with Smitty's baseball club last season, will manage the team. Plans for the coming season were discussed. Next meeting will be held Saturday at 8 p. m. at the Y, and all team members are requested to be on hand.

BALL CLUB TO BEGIN PRACTICE MONDAY

Manager Nelson Burbrink Due To Arrive Friday.

Baseball will come into its own in Marion Monday as spring training is slated to start for the local Cubs.

Manager Nelson Burbrink will arrive Friday to start the ball rolling and players are expected to come in this weekend.

The problem of housing ball players has been practically solved, according to W. Dexter Hazen, Marion club president. He added that more players than were originally expected may come, and that persons willing to help, in case of a surplus, should get in touch with him.

Three more candidates have been added to the list of prospective ball players

Two of them are from Buffalo and played in the fast Buffalo Municipal league last season. They are Chester Luucki, a catcher, and Gerald Peters, a pitcher. They have been highly recommended by Ben Kerner, Buffalo concessionaire, and neither has a contract in professional baseball.

GALION, April 1 — Candidates for the Galion High school baseball team were slated to appear for first practice yesterday at Helse Park. Coach Ed Rannow said he would have the following veteran players back: Lynn Heskett, James Fendrick, Bob Price, Leon Tuscan, Don Rogers, Art Wennmger, George Treisch and Leo Smith.

A non-league game with Ashland High school, April 8, is the first on the schedule this year, Coach Rannow said, while the first league game is with Upper Sandusky and is the second game of the season for the Galion boys

Ruel in Soft Job As Browns Not Expected To Go Anywhere

MIAMI, Fla.—Herold (Muddy) Ruel, new manager of the St. Louis Browns, has one of the softest jobs in baseball. Muddy has a two-year contract and no one expects him and his team to set the American league on fire this year.

But watch the Brownies' smoke under Ruel in 1948. They are building for the future with 14 farm clubs.

This is a new club with a new pilot and I've never managed before," says Ruel who caught the immortal Walter Johnson during the Big Train's pitching career in Washington. "I'll go along easy to see what we have because I didn't see one American league game last year. Everybody on the roster will get a chance."

Considered Good Manager

Ruel, who was special assistant to Commissioner Happy Chandler last season after 12 straight years as coach with the Chicago White Sox, got his chance to manage the Browns because General Manager Bill DeWitt thought he would make a good field general

Earl Combs, new coach, is the silver-haired ex-Yankee centerfielder who quit baseball "for a year" in the winter of 1944 to devote full time to his Richmond, Ky., farmland. But he never came back until Muckerman and Bill DeWitt lured Combs, a veteran of 11 World Series either as a player or coach with the Yankees, back to baseball.

The Browns now own outright four farm teams—Toledo in the American association, San Antonio in the Texas league, Elmira, N. Y., in the Eastern league and Springfield, Ill., in the Three-I loop—and have working agreements with 10 others

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

THE panic in Mary's voice made me marshall my words most carefully as I replied to her request.

"Mary, darling," I told her, leaning over the bed and taking her hands in mine, "I want you to believe that I am going along with you every step of the way I can.

"In the first place," I went on, "I understand perfectly one reason for your wanting me to sit in another room while you are studying the lines of your play. You do not want the feeling of eyes upon you as you work."

She drew a long, relieved breath, and look up at me with starry eyes.

"Oh, you wonderful understanding Auntie Madge!" she apostrophized. "That is just my reason. And I know by your face you are going to do what I ask you."

I hated to shadow her eyes, but I knew that Dr. Twitchell's mandate must be obeyed

"I am going to do almost everything you have asked," I told her, and then, before she could speak, went hurriedly on.

"I shall put an armchair in the bathroom and turn it so that I cannot possibly see you,' I told her. "I also will take something to read—and read it for the whole hour you are studying. But, dearest, I cannot close the bathroom door tightly.I must leave it ajar slightly, so that I can hear you call me if you need me—"

"Or hear me fall if I swoon," she interrupted bitterly, "or wrest the pistol from my grasp, if you should hear it click as I point it at my head!"

I tried to make my laugh at this last bit of melodramatic nonsense convincing, but it sounded hollow in my own ears, and when Mary spoke again, I knew that my forced merriment had not deceived her.

"That last crack wasn't worth even the feeble cackle you pumped up," she said. "Well, I know when I'm up against a stone wall. I'll get going on those lines, and Heaven help the innocent bystander, or by-sitters, meaning you, dearest."

"I'll reserve the right to call for outside help," I told her, smiling, as I took the armchair into the other room, turned it to the position I had promised her, sat down in it, and took up the magazine I had brought with me.

But I found it impossible to read, even if I had thought it compatible with my implied promise to Dr. Twitchell that I follow his instructions.

Meticulously I turned the pages of the magazine at the intervals I judged correct for normal reading And I tried to rustle the pages loudly, so that Mary would hear them and believe that I really was absorbed in reading

My ears were strained, however, to hear any sound she might make, but for several minutes I heard nothing at all I knew, as well as if I were watching her, that she had read over some of her lines and was engaged in gazing at the wall and memorizing them.

Then I began to hear disjoined mutterings so muted in tone that I could not catch their meaning. Then there was silence again.

The mutterings and the silences alternated, and there crept into the sounds something like the whimper of a frightened child, and I felt my pulses constrict with terror The whimpers changed to something like wails, and then I heard the sound of something light—I judged that it was my manuscript—being hurled across the room, and then Mary's voice in a high-pitched, hysterical lament that was almost a shriek:

"Oh, God! It's true! Oh, why can't I die? I will die rather than face this!"
